

Jena 1806: Napoleon Destroys Prussia
Osprey Campaign series No. 20 (1993)
By David Chandler

Contents:

Descent to War 1806
Plans and Preparations
The -Battalion Squareø in Action
Opposing Commanders
Opposing Armies
Jena
Auerstadt
Aftermath and an Accounting
The Battlefields Today
Chronology

Color Illustrations:

5 maps
3 battlescapes ó Jena, Auerstadt, strategic situation
French grenadier a cheval
Prussian light infantry
Prussian hussars
French guard infantry
Prussian cuirassier

Comments:

Exactly what you would expect from this series ó a discussion of the opposing armies, commanders and plans followed by a battle narrative. The latter is uncluttered and accessible. The interesting thing to note is the quality of the Prussian army, which the author claims to be not nearly as poor as is often portrayed, though they were let down by very poor commanders, especially at the strategic level.

--Paul Le Long

OR DAVID G. CHANDLER

MILITARY

CAMPAIGN SERIES

20

JENA 1806

NAPOLEON
DESTROYS PRUSSIA

DAVID G. CHANDLER