

Tippecanoe 1811: The Prophet's Battle
Osprey Campaign series No. 287 (2015)
By John F Winkler; illustrated by Peter Dennis

Contents:

Introduction
Chronology
Opposing Commanders
Opposing Armies
Opposing Plans
Campaign and Battle
Aftermath
The Battlefield Today

Colour Plates:

The American Left Flank, November 7 1811, 5.50AM
The American Right Flank, November 7 1811, 7AM
The American Counterattack, November 7 1811, 7.40AM
Plus 3 battle schematic maps and 5 maps

Comments:

This is really the fourth book in a series by this author covering battles on the American frontier during the late 18th and early 19th centuries ó the others being Point Pleasant (1774), Wabash (1791) and Fallen Timbers (1794). Iød recommend them all individually if you have an interest in the period and Iød also recommend reading them together as a series.

This book (& the others) follows the standard Osprey Campaign format ó background, commanders, plans, campaign narrative ó and everything is very clearly explained. What more can I say? If youøre interested in the early American Republic and its frontier region, then this book will educate and entertain.

--Paul Le Long

TIPPECANOE 1811

The Prophet's battle

JOHN F WINKLER

ILLUSTRATED BY PETER DENNIS